

Department of Psychology

Tenure-Track position in CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY

The University of Regina is a vibrant and growing campus in a province with a booming economy (Saskatchewan has the lowest rate of unemployment in Canada). As part of a faculty renewal initiative in the liberal arts, the Department of Psychology at the University of Regina is seeking applications for a tenure-track position in clinical psychology at the rank of Assistant Professor. Area of clinical research specialization is open. Anticipated date of commencement is July 1, 2015 or September 1, 2015, depending on the availability of the successful candidate.

Applicants should have a PhD in clinical psychology from a CPA- or APA-accredited program (or be in a position to complete all Ph.D. requirements no later than six months from the date of appointment). Also, applicants should be registered as a Psychologist in Saskatchewan or apply for provisional registration as soon as possible after they are hired. The successful candidate should show clear promise of excellence in research, teaching, and clinical work.

Duties of the successful candidate will include: teaching at the undergraduate and graduate level, honours and graduate thesis supervision, clinical supervision, and participation in departmental activities. The successful candidate is expected to develop an independent program of research in clinical psychology that would be eligible for Tri-Council and/or Canada Foundation for Innovation funding.

The program in Clinical Psychology at the University of Regina is committed to the scientist-practitioner model and is accredited by the Canadian Psychological Association. The Department maintains good relations with a number of health care, research, and other educational facilities both within Regina and throughout the province. The Psychology Department has recently received major funding to build a new state-of-the-art Psychology Training Clinic due to open this fall.

Review of applications will begin in September 2014 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants must electronically submit via <http://www.uregina.ca/hr/careers> the following documents: a covering letter providing a statement of research and teaching activities, a statement of clinical strengths & interests, a current curriculum vita, evidence of teaching effectiveness, reprints or preprints, course outlines (if available), and unofficial transcripts.

Candidates must also arrange for three (3) current letters of reference and certified degree transcripts to be sent directly by the referees and granting institutions to Dr Richard Kleer, Dean, Faculty of Arts, University of Regina, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, S4S 0A2. For more information on the Faculty of Arts, please refer to <http://www.arts.uregina.ca>. Academic enquiries may be addressed to: Dr Richard MacLennan, Head, Department of Psychology; phone: (306) 585-4157; email: richard.maclennan@uregina.ca

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

The University of Regina is committed to achieving a representative workforce. Qualified diversity group members are encouraged to self-identify on their applications.
