It gives me great pleasure to extend greetings and a warm welcome to everyone attending the Canadian Psychological Association's 78th Annual National Convention.

As Canada's largest city and the fourth largest in North America, Toronto is a global centre for business, finance, arts and culture and is dedicated to being a model of sustainable development. I welcome everyone to our city and encourage you to enjoy Toronto at this time of year and learn about our vibrant neighbourhoods.

On behalf of Toronto City Council, please accept my best wishes for an informative and enjoyable event.

Yours truly,

DE PSYCHOLOGIE

Dear Colleagues,

As President of the Canadian Psychological Association, it is my great honour to welcome you to Toronto for our 78th annual National Convention and our annual general meeting.

Every year, members from coast-to-coast-to-coast gather to reconnect with old friends, share their knowledge, and reignite their passion for our field. Whether this is your first convention or, like me, you come every year, our packed agenda and exciting social events are sure to leave a lasting impression.

Though there are many psychology conferences that take place in Canada every year, none compares to the CPA's National Convention due to the incredible breadth of content in the programme. The range of topics to be covered over the next three days not only ensures that there is something for everyone, it provides opportunities for each of us to step outside our comfort zone and, perhaps, gain a new perspective. There are undoubtedly enough sessions in your area to keep you busy, but I challenge you to also attend sessions on topics unrelated to your own work. Who knows... you may find opportunities for collaboration you never expected!

I wish you all a happy and productive convention!

Sincerely,

David J. A. Dozois, Ph.D., C. Psych.
President
Canadian Psychological Association

He is a Fellow of the Canadian Psychological Association (CPA), the Canadian Association of Cognitive and Behavioural Therapies, the CPA Section on Clinical Psychology, the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Academy of Cognitive Therapy. He has published 159 scientific papers, book chapters and books and has presented over 300 research presentations at national and international conferences.

Keynote Address from the CPA President

Not the Years in Your Life, but the Life in Your Years: Lessons from Canadian Psychology on Living Fully

Abstract: Over the past couple of decades, there has been an increasing focus on positive psychology in both the popular media and the scientific literature. Prior to this time, the predominant focus has been on what is aberrant or deficient, and how to ameliorate problems or dysfunction (i.e., a psychopathology orientation). Indeed, my own research has focused on cognitive vulnerability to depression and how we can understand and modify underlying core beliefs and cognitive structures. In this address, I will deviate from my own 'comfort zone' to highlight some key concepts related to understanding what makes life fulfilling and meaningful. Specific lessons from research in the areas of happiness, passion, mindfulness/acceptance, interpersonal connectedness, humour styles, taking risks, and thinking with evidence will be reviewed. Throughout this address, I will highlight how Canadian psychological science has contributed in important ways to helping us to live more fully.

2017 Keynote Speakers

Dr. Pim Cuijpers

2017 CPA Honorary President
(Saturday June 10, Morning Keynote)

Dr. Cuijpers is a Professor of Clinical Psychology at the VU University Amsterdam (The Netherlands), Head of the Department of Clinical Psychology and has published almost 500 peer-reviewed papers, chapters, reports and professional publications.

Keynote Address by the Honorary CPA President

Four decades of outcome research on psychotherapies for adult depression: Directions for the future

Abstract: In the past four decades about 500 randomized trials have examined the effects of psychological treatments of adult depression. In this presentation, I will give an overview of what these studies have shown about the effects of different types of psychotherapies, including cognitive behavior therapy, behavioral activation therapy, interpersonal psychotherapy, non-directive supportive therapy and short-term psychodynamic psychotherapy. I will also discuss third wave therapies. All therapies are effective and there are no significant differences between them. Psychotherapies are about equally effective as pharmacotherapy, and combined treatments are more effective than either of them alone. Treatments are effective when delivered in individual, group and guided self-help format. Very little is known about predictors and moderators of outcome and in this presentation I will show the results of a series of “individual patient data” meta-analyses in which the primary data of trials are collected, resulting in sufficient power to examine moderators and predictors. Furthermore, I will show that the effects of psychotherapies have been overestimated because of the low quality of many trials and due to publication bias. I will also discuss priorities for future research. All priorities should be based on their potential to reduce the disease burden of depressive disorders. The development of new psychotherapies for depression, research on specific treatment formats or on therapies in specific populations should not be high on the list of priorities, because the evidence suggests that all types and formats with human involvement are effective in all specific target groups. Future research should instead focus on a further reduction of the disease burden of depression, and on the possibilities of preventing the onset of depressive disorders, treatments of chronic and treatment-resistant depression, relapse prevention, and scaling up treatments for example by using more guided self-help interventions.

Reality TV Meets Psychology:

Big Brother Canada, Entertainment and Beyond

Thursday June 8th (Lunch Hour Keynote)

Presenters:

- Erin Brock, Executive Producer & Supervising Producer, Big Brother Canada
- Arisa Cox, Host, Big Brother Canada
- Gary “Glitter” Levy, Big Brother Canada Houseguest,
- Steven Stein, Psychologist, Big Brother Canada (Moderator)

The influence of reality TV has become more and more prominent over the past 10 years around the world. Big Brother, one of the earliest and more popular reality shows is now produced in over 40 countries. Big Brother Canada gets over one million Canadian viewers a week glued to their screens. What is it that attracts so many people to these shows? Some of these shows bear a small resemblance to psychology experiments of the 1960's and 1970's, such as the famous Zimbardo prison experiment.

In Big Brother Canada a selection of houseguests live together for up to 10 weeks, facing a constant series of challenges, both physical and mental. Each week the houseguests vote out one of their members until there is a winner at the end, requiring a unique set of social skills to survive.

This session will look at the importance of psychology in these shows. Topics will include the effects of the experience on participants, impact on viewers, public education on mental health issues, precautions taken for participants, psychological screening in casting, and more. Perspectives will be presented from the show producer, on-air host, former participants and the show psychologist.

There is something for everyone... on a topic that is fascinating and frightening at the same time!

- As a scientist, Dave will explore the evolution of cyber, global socio-technological trends and transformative effects of cyber in our lives. He will explore health surveillance and predictive analytics in the world of big data;
- As a practitioner and consultant, Dave will speak to the real threats and how to protect electronic health records and personal information; and
- For everyone, Dave will also cover topics of Internet hygiene, practicing safe surfing, social media intelligence, security and privacy.

Abstract

Risk contagion and critical infrastructure interdependencies, geopolitical and socio-technological influences, augmented reality, artificial intelligence, persistent virtual worlds, cybernetics and the Internet-of-Everything (IoE) are emergent effects derived from the convergence of physical, human and cyber domains. These represent both risks and opportunities to your practice.

Consider that the largest mobile device you will soon own will be your car. Look at augmented reality gaming on our sidewalks, drones in the sky, pacemaker with its own internet address, bitcoins in our wallet and semantic robot networks influencing mass-populations as we sleep.

We are entering a period of instability, rapid convergence and risk within a complex adaptive system where social media provides a frictionless state between the Human terrain, the Network and the Internet-of-Things (IoT). We call this the Internet-of-Everything or World Brain. Here a single thought, communicated by disruptive technology, has enabled open-empowerment of global commons and precipitated the collapse of nations.

In the murky netherworld of cyberspace, our notions of hackers, cyber-terrorists, and spies... are deceived by appearances and befuddled by intent. The reality is that the cosmopolitan threat agents of today have compounded agendas and common exploitation tools at their disposal and social media is the primary attack and contagion vector in cyber space. Mass spam emails can phish thousands of potential victims into opening an infected e-mail or visiting a fraudulent website. Computers can be compromised, personal credentials and identities stolen, electronic health records compromised and hospitals held to ransom.

Tight versus Loose Cultures: Interdisciplinary Perspectives

Abstract: Humans are unique among all species in their ability to develop, maintain, and reinforce social norms. While the enforcement of social norms is universal, there is wide variation in the strength of social norms (or tightness) around the globe. In this talk, I will describe theory and research on tightness-looseness in traditional societies and in modern nations and states, discuss the evolutionary and neurological basis of such differences, and describe the implications of the strength of social norms for organizations, intercultural contact, and politics.

Motivation and Cognitive Control

Abstract: Research in my lab investigates the neural mechanisms that give rise to successful cognitive control: the ability to regulate thoughts and actions in an intelligent, goal-directed manner. We have argued that such mechanisms, which involve a network of brain regions centered on the lateral prefrontal cortex, can operate in either a proactive (i.e., anticipatory / sustained) or reactive (i.e., transient and stimulus-triggered) mode. This framework thus emphasizes the importance of examining temporal dynamics in the neural mechanisms of cognitive control. I will discuss recent studies focusing on the interaction of motivation and cognitive control. These studies will focus on:

- a. the productive utility of motivationally focused cognitive control studies;
- b. motivationally based distinctions between proactive and reactive control; and
- c. a theoretical perspective that treats cognitive control engagement as an economic decision-making process.

COLOUR CODED PRESENTATION LISTINGS

We've designed the CPA National Convention Program to help our delegates avoid the frustration and challenge of having to search through a program that consists of more than 850 presentations. Understanding that many of the areas covered are interconnected, some have parallels, and some are unique in their own right, we've come up with a system that we believe will help you navigate the program more efficiently. By clustering all the CPA subject matter areas, assigning each cluster a colour, then "tagging" each of the presentations in the program with the appropriate colour, we've made it a whole lot easier for you to find the presentations that are most likely going to be of interest to you.

Cluster Colours	CPA Sections / Subject Matter Areas
Blue	- Addiction Psychology - Clinical Neuropsychology - Clinical Psychology - Counselling Psychology	- Quantitative Electrophysiology - Health Psychology and Behavioural Medicine - Psychopharmacology - Traumatic Stress
Light Green	- Community Psychology - Environmental Psychology - Family Psychology	- Social and Personality Psychology - Sport and Exercise Psychology
Light Orange	- Adult Development and Aging - Developmental Psychology	Educational and School Psychology
Light Yellow	- Aboriginal Psychology - Extremism and Terrorism - International and Cross-Cultural Psychology	- Rural and Northern Psychology - Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity - Women and Psychology
Brown	Brain and Cognitive Sciences
Light Purple	Teaching of Psychology	Quantitative Methods
Light Red	- Criminal Justice Psychology - Psychologists in Hospitals and Health Centres - Industrial and Organizational Psychology	- Psychology in the Military - Psychologists and Retirement
Light Grey	History and Philosophy of Psychology
Green	Students in Psychology
White	General Programme

HOW TO USE THE COLOURS TO PLAN YOUR DAY:

Determine the one or more CPA Sections and/or subject matter areas that you wish to follow at the Convention, identify which "cluster colour" they have been assigned (see below), and explore the multitude of sessions that each "cluster" has to offer. Pick more than one colour, and you can experience the depth and breadth that is our discipline and profession today. All presentations are listed in chronological order and each listing includes the title and authors of the presentation.

LISTE DES PRÉSENTATIONS PAR COULEUR

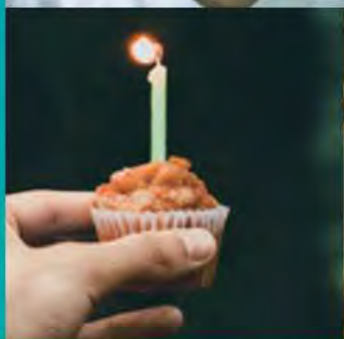

Le programme du congrès national de la SCP a été conçu de manière à éviter aux délégués la frustration et les difficultés que représente une programmation imposante de plus de 850 présentations. Considérant que plusieurs domaines de la psychologie sont interreliés, que certains d'entre eux se rapprochent et que d'autres ont un caractère distinctif, nous avons créé un système qui, selon nous, vous aidera à parcourir plus efficacement le programme. En répartissant tous les domaines couverts au congrès en groupes thématiques, en assignant à chaque groupe une couleur, puis en « identifiant » chaque présentation figurant au programme avec la couleur appropriée, nous vous faciliterons la tâche lorsque vous rechercherez les présentations qui sont le plus susceptibles de vous intéresser.

COMMENT UTILISER LES COULEURS POUR PLANIFIER VOTRE JOURNÉE :

Déterminez la ou les sections de la SCP et/ou les domaines que vous voulez suivre au congrès, trouvez la couleur assignée au groupe thématique en question (voir ci-dessous) et explorez la multitude de séances qui figurent dans chaque groupe. Choisissez plus d'une couleur et constatez par vous-même toute l'étendue et la richesse de notre discipline et de notre profession. Toutes les présentations sont classées par ordre chronologique et chaque entrée comprend le titre et les auteurs de la présentation.

WE'RE NOT JUST CELEBRATING THE LAST CENTURY, WE'RE CELEBRATING THE NEXT.

Globally, we have been around for 100 years, and 20 years in Canada. We take pride in the progress we've made in mental health and oncology. We're now focusing on the next generation of healthcare advancements, because, for us, it's all about helping Canadians lead better lives. At Lundbeck, we believe everyone deserves happier birthdays.

Canadians with type two diabetes

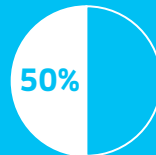

Canadians with heart disease

This is nearly twice the number of people in all age groups with heart disease or type 2 diabetes

Total cost to Canada's economy incurred by mental health problems and illnesses is nearly $1,400 for every person living in Canada

ACROSS THE LIFESPAN

About 50% of all mental health problems and illnesses have likely begun by the teenage years

The highest rate of mental health problems and illnesses is among young adults ages 20 to 29

BRIDGING THE GAP

About 1.6 million Canadians recently reported that their need for mental health care was only partially met or not met at all

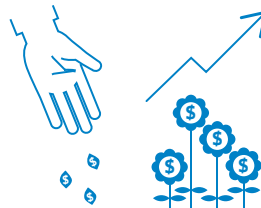

LOW INVESTMENT

Canadian Psychology publishes generalist articles in areas of theory, research, and practice that are of interest to a broad cross-section of psychologists. Manuscripts with direct relevance to the context of Canadian psychology are also appropriate for submission. Original, empirical contributions are welcome if the research is of direct relevance to the discipline as a whole (e.g., a survey of psychologists about the future of the discipline or about their practice) or if they present the results of a systematic review (including meta-analyses) or other forms of reviews. Reviews are particularly welcome.

Canadian Psychology is a journal of the Canadian Psychological Association (CPA) published with grant support from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC).

The opinions expressed are strictly those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Canadian Psychological Association, its officers, directors, or employees.

Psychologie canadienne publie des articles généralistes, qu'ils soient théoriques, empiriques, ou cliniques, qui sont d'intérêt pour les psychologues. Les articles abordant directement la psychologie dans le contexte canadien sont également appropriés pour la revue. Les articles scientifiques originaux sont aussi acceptés dans la mesure où les recherches présentées sont d'intérêt pour une part importante des psychologues (par exemple, une enquête auprès des psychologues sur l'avenir de la discipline ou sur l'état de leur pratique) ou s'ils présentent les résultats d'une revue systématique (y compris d'une méta-analyse) ou d'autres formes de synthèses. Les synthèses de connaissance sont particulièrement sollicitées.
