The CPA endeavours to include a comprehensive list of graduate programmes in psychology in Canada in its Graduate Guide. However, listing in the guide is voluntary and not every Canadian programme is necessarily included. Additionally, the guide might not capture the most recent changes affected to any given programme. The universities' coordinates are listed in the guide and users are advised to confirm the information contained in the Graduate Guide with the programmes themselves.

There are many other websites which list Canadian universities and their links. These can be accessed by searching Canadian universities. Any university with a graduate psychology program which it would like listed in the Graduate Guide is invited to contact CPA.

L'objectif de la SCP est de présenter dans ce répertoire une liste complète des programmes d'études supérieures en psychologie offerts au Canada. Cependant, la participation à ce répertoire se fait sur une base volontaire et certains programmes peuvent ne pas être inclus. De plus, le répertoire peut ne pas contenir les modifications les plus récentes effectuées à certains programmes. Les coordonnées des universités sont comprises dans le répertoire afin de permettre aux utilisateurs de confirmer les informations avec les départements qui offrent les programmes.

Plusieurs autres sites web présentent des listes des universités canadiennes et l'adresse de leurs sites web. Vous pouvez effectuer des recherches sur le web sous universités canadiennes. Les universités qui ont un programme d'études supérieures en psychologie et qui désirent l'afficher dans ce répertoire, sont invitées à communiquer avec la SCP.

Policy for offers of graduate admission and/or financial support

The Board of Directors of CPA approved the following as a policy of the Association on June 16, 1979, and makes copies of this statement available to departments for distribution to prospective graduate students. The policy is designed to provide prospective students and departments with a period of time in which it is understood that offers of financial assistance will be made and can be considered and freely accepted.

1. Departments will endeavour to make offers of admission and/or support to applicants before April.
2. Applicants have until April 15th to accept an offer of admission.
3. After April 15, offers will be made only to applicants who state that they are not committed to another department.

Meaning of the Policy for Prospective Students.

Within this policy prospective students should not feel pressured to accept awards before April 15, when they will have had an opportunity to consider all of their options. A student who accepts an award ties up a position and money that could have been offered to another student. Therefore, after April 15 that student is not regarded as free to accept an award at another University without the written approval of the first Department. Prospective students who had previously indicated acceptance of an award must then obtain a written release from the first Department before they are free to accept another award.

Politique relative à l'admissibilité des étudiants et étudiantes aux programmes d'études et/ou à l'aide financière

Le 16 juin 1979, le Conseil d'administration de la SCP adoptait comme politique officielle la politique suivante sur l'admissibilité aux programmes d'études supérieures et à l'aide financière et en distribuait l'énoncé aux futurs étudiants dans les départements de psychologie. La raison d'être de cette politique: accorder aux étudiants et étudiantes le temps nécessaire pour leur permettre de prendre en considération et d'accepter de façon éclairée toute offre d'aide financière qui leur serait faite.

1. Les départements s'efforceront de faire l'offre d'admission et/ou de bourses d'études aux candidats et candidates avant le 1<sup>er</sup> avril.
2. Les candidats et candidates auront jusqu'au 15 avril pour accepter l'offre qui leur sera faite.
3. Après le 15 avril, des offres seront faites seulement aux candidats et candidates qui auront précisé qu'ils ou elles ne sont pas inscrits(tes) à un autre département.

Interprétation de la politique. Dans le cadre de cette politique, les étudiants ne doivent pas se sentir obligés d'accepter les bourses avant le 15 avril mais bien lorsqu'ils auront eu l'occasion d'étudier tous les choix qui s'offrent à eux. Un étudiant qui accepte une offre prend la place et une somme d'argent qui auraient pu être accordées à une autre personne. Par conséquent, après le 15 avril, un étudiant ne pourra accepter une offre d'une autre université à moins d'en avoir reçu l'autorisation écrite du premier département avec qui il a fait affaire. Après le 15 avril, tous les étudiants qui auront reçu une offre d'aide financière devront préciser qu'ils ne se sont pas engagés envers un autre département. Les étudiants qui auraient déjà accepté une offre devront obtenir une libération écrite du premier département avant d'en accepter une autre.

Approximately 9 students could be admitted to the program. However, admission to all three focus areas of study may not be offered in any given year.

Programs Offered:

MA and PhD programs in the focus areas of Behavioural Neuroscience; Lifespan Development; and Social/Personality Psychology. Collaboration and integration across focal areas is also possible.

Special Facilities or Resources:

Whereas the primary thrust of the graduate program is towards basic research, many research programs have reasonably direct application to health or social issues. The Department has also forged links with the community that will facilitate student access to special populations, community resources, agencies, and school boards. Active research collaboration with the community and across focus areas and faculties is encouraged through initiatives such as The Centre of Excellence for Youth Engagement, The Youth Lifestyle Choices - Community-University Research Alliances, and The Institute for Electrophysiological Research.

 ● Calgary, Alberta

Division of Applied Psychology:

Established 1966 (Autonomy from University of Alberta). Named Department of Educational Psychology 1966-2000, renamed Division of Applied Psychology in September 2000. Associate Dean (Department Head): Dr. Bryan Hiebert. Faculty: 16 full-time, 1 part-time, sessional appointments vary. Academic year system — 4 sessions. Degrees awarded from 1966 to 2001 were 1029 Masters and 256 Ph.D.

Division Orientation:

The Division of Applied Psychology in the Faculty of Education offers graduate work leading to the Master of Education (MEd), Master of Science (MSc) and Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) degrees. Within the MEd and MSc degrees the Division offers four programs of study: Human Development and Learning, Special Education, School Psychology, and Counselling Psychology. Detailed descriptions of the programs of study can be obtained from the Division brochures. Applicants should apply to the program of their choice. The Division of Applied Psychology also participates in the Campus Alberta Master of Counselling initiative. The Campus Alberta Master of Counselling is a conjoint degree, developed and delivered through a partnership between the University of Calgary, Athabasca University, and the University of Lethbridge. The Campus Alberta Master of Counselling Program is a course-based, off-campus masters program that equivalent to the M.Ed. In Counselling Psychology in the Division of Applied Psychology.

Applications to be Addressed to: Graduate Program Administrator, Division of Applied Psychology, University of Calgary, 2500 University Drive NW, Calgary, Alberta T2N 1N4. Phone: 403-220-5651; fax: 403- 282-9244. Web: <http://external.educ.ucalgary.ca/edps/html>. Deadline: February 1st. Application fee: $60.00.

Admission Requirements:

- (a) Normally, a minimum of two and a half full-course equivalents in applied psychology and/or psychology. This must include at least one full-course equivalent in statistics and research design (APSY 301 and 303, or equivalents). At least one half-course in each of developmental psychology, learning theory, and personality theory is highly recommended. Some specializations may require additional undergraduate courses in Psychology or Applied Psychology (e.g., Counselling);
- (b) A resume, and a concise rationale for the application (500 words or less);
- (c) Students applying to Counselling are advised to complete APSY 419 (Communication Skills in Guidance) or equivalent before seeking admission;
- (d) Students who plan to apply for chartering as psychologists after completing their programs should bear in mind that additional undergraduate and graduate courses in applied psychology and/or psychology may be required. Further information on chartering requirements can be obtained through the Division.

2002-2003 Student Statistics: Ph.D: 55; M.Ed.: 35; M.Sc.: 57. First Year: 30. Total Graduate Students: 147.

Degree Requirements:

M.Sc. One year of full time residency, normally 6 full course equivalents, thesis, thesis oral defense.

M.Ed. Normally 6 to 8 full course equivalents, written and oral comprehensive examinations.

Ph.D. Two years of full time residency, normally 4 full course equivalents, written and oral candidacy examinations, dissertation, dissertation oral defense.

Tuition Costs: Canadian: varied. Foreign: varied, with 100% differential fee assessed on tuition. Housing available on campus.

Financial Assistance: Graduate Assistantships, Graduate Research Scholarships.

University of Calgary (Clinical Psychology)
 ● Calgary, Alberta

Program in Clinical Psychology: Established 1993. Director: Susan Graham, Ph.D. This program, which has been accredited by the CPA, is in the Department of Psychology in the Faculty of Social Sciences. Faculty: Full-time (8 Professors including 2 Associate Professors and 2 Assistant Professors. There are 30 Adjunct faculty). Academic year system - two terms in regular year; summer research and practicum requirements.

Program Orientation: This program subscribes to the scientist-practitioner model of training, and offers strong training in both the research and applied aspects of the profession of clinical psychology. Focussed interests within the program include Clinical Adult and Clinical Child.

Programs and Degrees Offered: The program offers two degrees, the M.Sc. and the Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology. Students are not admitted to the program if they only seek the Master's degree; however, as the program endorses the need for doctoral training in clinical psychology and also has integrated the training across the two degrees, students may be admitted to the program with a previous Master's degree.

Applications to be Addressed to: Department of Psychology, Program in Clinical Psychology, University of Calgary, 2500 University Drive N.W., Calgary, Alberta, Canada T2N 1N4. A $60.00 non-refundable application fee must accompany the application. Applications must be received by January 15 of the year in which September admission is sought.

Inquiries to be Addressed to: Graduate Secretary, Department of Psychology, Program in Clinical Psychology, A-149 Administration Building, University of Calgary, Calgary, Alberta, T2N 1N4. Phone: (403) 220-5659. Fax: (403) 284-9516. E-mail address: psycgrad@ucalgary.ca. CPSY's web address is: <http://www.psych.ucalgary.ca/Clinical/>

Admission Requirements: Applications are sought from students who normally have an undergraduate honours degree in Psychology, or its equivalent. Applicants to the program must include in their application the following: Graduate Record Examination (GRE) results, academic transcripts, letters of reference, a description of life and research experience, a statement of career objectives and a prospective research supervisor. Admission to the program will be based upon a minimum 60 percentile score on each of the GRE Verbal and Quantitative dimensions and a minimum 3.6 GPA (approximately 80%). Prior experience, compatibility between the applicant and the program's orientation, as well as the availability of a prospective research supervisor will be important factors in admission decisions. The Program will only admit applicants who are motivated to and appear capable of completing both the M.Sc. and Ph.D. requirements.

Student Statistics: Ph.D. – 23, M.Sc. – 13, First year 100% female.

Degree Requirements:
M.Sc. Requirements include courses in statistics and experimental design, professional issues and ethics, adult and child psychopathology, as well as assessment and therapy. Summer practica, including a minimum of 300 hours of supervised experience and a Master's thesis are required.

Ph.D. Requirements include the above requirements, plus breadth courses in psychology, specialty practica, clinical research seminar, candidacy examinations, a doctoral dissertation and a full-year, pre-doctoral clinical internship.

- Tuition Costs: Students in the program will pay full fees for the years they fulfill their residency requirement at the University of Calgary (Year 1 of the Master's degree and Years 1 and 2 of the Ph.D.), and continuing fees as a graduate student thereafter. For 2002-03, the University of Calgary has set tuition fees as $4,373.00 per year, and continuing fees at $1,245.00 per year. Foreign students will pay a higher amount, as set by University policy.
- Financial Assistance: Owing to the number of requirements in the program, the program attempts to ensure funding for all of its students, though this may not be possible in all instances. Support can come in the form of Graduate Research Scholarships (GRS: $1,075/month) or Graduate Teaching Assistantships (GTA: $1,555.25 per month). GTA's carry a teaching responsibility of up to a maximum of 12 hours per week. In addition, the University, Province of Alberta and Government of Canada offer scholarships, for which students are encouraged to apply.
- Anticipated Openings in 2002: Six.
- Support Staff: One full-time Program Secretary.
- Special Facilities or Resources: The program is based in a unit which comprises classrooms, rooms with one-way mirrors for training in interviewing and therapy skills, audio/video facilities, and test library. Access to other research facilities in the sponsoring department is also available.

- Admission Requirements: Students must have satisfactory scores on the Graduate Record Examination (Verbal, Quantitative, Analytical) and must exceed the minimum requirement for admission into the Faculty of Graduate Studies — a 4-year baccalaureate degree with a grade point average of 3.0 (equivalent to a B or 70% in many universities) over the courses taken during the last two years of study. (Departmental requirement - minimum 3.4 over the courses taken during the last two years of study). Applicants are expected to hold a 4-year undergraduate degree, typically with specialization in Psychology, or a related discipline, including courses in experimental design and statistics. The Department will normally accept only applicants who appear capable of completing the M.Sc. and Ph.D. requirements.
- Student Statistics: Ph.D.- 27, M.Sc.- 16. First year - 50% female, 50% male. 42 students are active in the graduate programme.
- Degree Requirements:
- M.Sc.* Three full-course equivalents including one full course in experimental design, one full-year research course and four elective half courses. Written thesis and oral defence. Applied programmes require more course work.
- Ph.D.* Written and oral dissertation and oral defence candidacy exams, three full course equivalents. Applied programmes require more course work.
- Tuition Fees: MSc – one year of full-time study at full program fees, with each subsequent year at continuing fees. PhD – Two years of full-time study at full program fees, with each subsequent year at continuing fees. For 2003/2004 program fees total $4373 and continuing fees are $1245.
- Financial Assistance: Graduate Research Scholarships (GRS) or Graduate Assistantships (Teaching) (TA) are awarded to virtually all eligible students for the eight-month regular session (September-April). Summer financial assistance is available on a competitive basis through Graduate Research Scholarships and external grants. Graduate Research Scholarships ($1025/month) are awarded to conduct research. No teaching or service duties are required of graduate students who hold a GRS. Graduate Teaching Assistantships ($6221 per term) involving a maximum of 12 hours per week (including preparation) for teaching laboratories or tutorials.

Anticipated Openings in 2004: About 10, in all areas of Psychology.

Support Staff: Technical staff totals 3. 2 programmers, 1 electronics/engineering. Clerical staff totals 6. Administrative staff: 1 administrative assistant, 1 graduate program administrator, and 4 administrative program assistants.

Special Facilities or Resources: Completely equipped laboratories for auditory physiology, cognitive, ergonomics, auditory and visual psychophysics, physiological, psychophysiological and electrophysiological research, visual aging, as well as social, developmental and psychometrics laboratories.

Research Resources: Major Department facilities include large graduate and undergraduate Macintosh computer laboratories, IBM compatible systems and a selection of attached printers. The Department has several videotape labs, sound and RF-shielded chambers, a digital speech synthesizer and speech editor, a vision tunnel, driving simulator, eye tracking equipment, and digital sonographs and spectrum analyzers. Fully equipped laboratories for research in perception, cognition, neurophysiology, behavioral medicine, psychophysiology, social and developmental psychology are available for student use. The Department maintains a well-equipped shop with technicians who are available to graduate students as well as to faculty. Research facilities are also available in local hospitals and clinics, at the Vocational and Rehabilitation Research Institute located adjacent to the campus, and in local industrial settings. The University Libraries house excellent collections.

Research and Clinical Space at the University:
More than 2,900 square meters.

Typical Requirements for Academic Staff Appointments:
At least two years of suitable teaching experience beyond Ph.D. Independent research program with a strong record of publication in refereed journals. Established and continuing interest in one of the Department's primary areas of specialization.

Department of Psychology:	Established 1961. Chairperson: W. Bukowski. Faculty: 35.5 Full-time, (12 full professors; 11.5 associate professors; 12 assistant professors, 2 adjunct clinical faculty). Academic year system – full-year. First Ph.D. awarded in 1978. First M.A. awarded in 1969.
Department Orientation:	Graduate training in psychology at Concordia University is for students intending to obtain the Ph.D. degree in our program. At the beginning of graduate training, students pursue the M.A. degree and affiliate with either the General or the Clinical Profile. The two profiles have the same research requirements but the Clinical Profile also includes clinical course work and training. For the doctoral degree, the emphasis is again on research within, General or Clinical Profiles. Graduate training at Concordia has two unique features: areas of research specialization and the availability of clinical training regardless of research specialization area.

Programmes and Degrees Offered: The Department of Psychology offers two degrees. Master of Arts (Psychology) and Doctor of Philosophy (Psychology).

Research Areas:

In keeping with the department's emphasis on research, new students immediately become part of a research team. Students are accepted into the program under the sponsorship of a faculty member whose research interests are similar to their own. Areas of research specialization have been defined so as to include a range of perspectives and methods, from pure research to applications. Students and faculty may specialize in one or more areas. The areas of specialization offered by the department are:

1. Appetitive motivation and drug dependence: Analysis of behaviours oriented around intake of nutrients and drugs. Research on behavioural control in humans and animals. Study of neuro-physiological and bio-chemical mechanisms underlying appetitive motivation and addiction. Applied experience with alcoholism, drug abuse, obesity, and anorexia nervosa.

2. Behaviour disorders: The study of neurophysiological, biological and social factors associated with particular behaviour problems and their remediation. Research on the origins, nature, determinants and treatment of the various disorders. Current research with children and adolescents focuses on developmental psychopathology, including risk factors for adult psychopathology and precursors of particular clinical symptoms. Research with adults examines the etiology of anxiety and depression, and the relative effectiveness of therapies in controlling them.

3. Human development and developmental processes: The study of normal and atypical patterns in human development across the lifespan. Research on the origins, nature, determinants and interaction of cognitive, perceptual and motor abilities, personality characteristics and social skills. Research programmes on childhood and adolescence include: perceptual, cognitive and motor processes in normal and high risk infants and young children; family and peer relations; sex differences and sex role socialization; predictors of adjustment, in particular across developmental transitions; and ethnic attitudes. Research programmes on aging examine lifestyle factors that maintain competence in elderly women and men, and changes and continuity in cognitive abilities, language and personality.

4. Perception, Cognition and Neuropsychology: The study of sensory, perceptual and cognitive processing and their development, leading to the perception, responding to and comprehension of visual, auditory and verbal stimuli. Research programs in perception include perception of motion, depth, texture and color, spatial vision, and visual search, with special emphasis given to the role of attention. Research programs in cognition include studies of attention, memory, reading, skill acquisition, second language skills, and musical performance skills. The developmental aspects of cognition currently investigated include the origins of a theory of mind in infancy and early lexical and conceptual development in monolingual and bilingual children. Research programs in neuropsychology give special emphasis to the role of attentional strategies, to auditory information in perceptual and cognitive processing, neuropsychological mechanisms and thought disorders, using neuropsychological methods such as brain wave recording and brain imaging. Research is based on normal as well as clinical, neuropsychological and other special populations.

5. Health psychology: The study of the psychological processes important in developing and maintaining fitness and health. The role of stress and coping variables, as they influence health, illness and pain perception. The role of illness as a transition from healthy aging into frail old age. The experience, interpretation of and derived meaning of major illness by the elderly. The impact of various risk factors and disease states on cognitive function, and of cognition and suggestion on pain.

6. Sexual and sex-related behaviour: Studies of biological and social influences on sexual and sex-related behaviour in humans and animals. Research areas covered include the following: sexual development in animals; maternal behaviour and nutrition-endocrine interactions in animals; genetic and hormonal influences on sex differences in brain anatomy, function and behaviour; human sexual behaviour-reproduction, contraception, abortion, sex role socialization and identification; sex differences in attitudes, motivation, cognitive development functioning.

Clinical Profile:

The clinical training program is fully accredited by the Canadian and American Psychological Associations. Students in any area of research specialization may follow the Clinical profile, though historically Clinical Profile students have concentrated on certain areas. Clinical course work and practica, including a Certificate in Clinical Psychology, are begun concurrent with the Master of/Magisteriate in Arts requirements, and continue as part of the Ph.D. Degree.

Applications to be Addressed to:

Inquiries and correspondence regarding the programs and sources of funding should be addressed to: Graduate Programme Secretary, Department of Psychology, PY 119-2, Concordia University, 7141 Sherbrooke Street West, Montréal, Québec, H4B 1R6. Phone: 514-848-2424 ext. 2205. Fax: 514-848-4523. E-mail: BLACK@VAX2.CONCORDIA.CA.

Admission Requirements:

Enrollment is limited, in part by the availability of research supervisors. Applicants are selected on the basis of past academic record, letters of recommendation, the results of the Graduate Record Examination (optional but highly recommended), and the relevance of their proposed research to the areas of specialization of the department.

M.A.

(Psychology): Admission for the Master's program requires an honours degree or its equivalent.

Ph.D.

(Psychology): Admission to the Doctoral program requires a Master's degree in psychology (or equivalent), with thesis, from Concordia or another recognized university.

2004-2005 Student Statistics:

Full-time Ph.D. 78, full-time M.A. 38. Total: 116 students (22% male; 78% female).

- Degree Requirements: The minimum period of residence for the M.A. in Psychology is one calendar year of full-time study (45 credits). The degree includes course work and thesis requirements. Clinical Profile students also complete the Certificate in Clinical Psychology (15 credits).
The minimum period of residence for the Ph.D. is two calendar years. A fully qualified candidate is required to complete 90 credits of course work, comprehensive examinations and a thesis. Clinical Profile students also complete a one year full-time internship.
- Tuition Costs:

- Financial Assistance: The Department of Psychology employs graduate students as teaching assistants in undergraduate and graduate courses in research methods and statistics. Individual professors may also offer financial support in the form of research assistantships. Students who wish such employment should indicate their interest on the application form. In addition, students wishing support should apply in the year preceding their admission for all national, provincial, and university scholarships or fellowships for which they are eligible. Information may be obtained from the Graduate Awards Officer in the Office of the Dean of Graduate Studies.
- Applications in 2004: M.A. (General Profile): 44 applications, 11 accepted. M.A. (Clinical Profile): 136 applications, 10 accepted. Ph.D.: 20 applications, 0 accepted.
- Anticipated Openings in 2005: M.A. (General Profile) 10; M.A. (Clinical Profile) 10; Ph.D. 3.
- Support Staff: Technician, computer consultant, technical officer, administrator, clinical psychologist, secretaries.
- Special Facilities or Resources: Extensive new laboratory and computer facilities for human and animal research; Centre for Research in Human Development; Centre for Research in Behavioural Neurobiology; Applied Psychology Clinic (treatment rooms equipped with video, audio and one-way mirrors).

Typical Requirements for Academic Staff Appointments:

Completed Ph.D. requirements are essential. A strong record of research productivity and publications and evidence of superior teaching ability. Applicants for clinical positions should have completed the equivalent of a CPA- or an APA-accredited program in clinical psychology.

- Programs and Degrees Offered: Ph.D.Clinical Psychology: Applied Developmental Emphasis; Applied Social Psychology; Industrial/ Organizational Psychology; Applied Cognitive Science
- M.A. Clinical Psychology: Applied Developmental Emphasis; Applied Social Psychology; Industrial/Organizational Psychology; Applied Cognitive Science
- Students are not accepted into terminal M.A. programs in either the Clinical Psychology: Applied Developmental Emphasis or Applied Social areas. Requirements for an M.A. typically are satisfied within the first two years of the Ph.D. program.
- Admission Requirements: For M.A. consideration, an Honours B.A. or B.Sc. or equivalent in psychology or allied discipline. As a minimum, GPA of B+ in the last two years, GPA in psychology of B+. Typically competition is such that those admitted have a higher GPA. For Ph.D. consideration, high academic standing from the B.A. and M.A. programs. Applicants must complete the GRE General Test consisting of Verbal, Quantitative, and Analytical Writing sections and the Psychology Subject Test. Importance of additional characteristics of applicants: previous research activity typically in the form of an honours thesis: high; letters of recommendation: high; clinically related public service: medium; relevant work experience: medium; extracurricular activity: low.

Degree Requirements:

Ph.D. Coursework, practicum/work term, qualifying examination and dissertation typically completed within three years of post M.A. full-time study.

M.A. Coursework, practicum/work term, thesis or research project completed in six semesters.

Financial Assistance:

Teaching assistantships/departmental service assistantships are available for all students admitted in spring for the following academic year (2002-2003 rate: $4428.97 per semester for 10 hours per week). University Graduate Fellowships ($2000); Board of Graduate Studies Research Scholarship $1800; and College of Social Science Founders Scholarships ($1000) are awarded. Research assistantships from individual faculty research grants and loans through the University may also be available.

- Department of Psychology: Established 1968. Chairman: Dr. Ron Davis. Faculty: 14 full-time (5 full professors, 7 associate professors, 2 assistant professor). Academic year system – full year. M.A. and Ph.D. degrees awarded in the area of Clinical Psychology, and M.A. degrees in the area of Experimental Psychology. First M.A. awarded in 1971, first Ph.D. awarded in 1998.
- Department Orientation: The majority of graduate students are in the Clinical area, however, the Department has been active in, and remains firmly committed to, research in Experimental Psychology. The M.A. and Ph.D. programs in Clinical Psychology adhere to the scientist-practitioner model of training.
- Applications to be Addressed to: Sheila Delin, Graduate Program, Department of Psychology, Thunder Bay, Ontario, P7B 5E1. Tel: (807) 343-8441; Fax (807) 346-7734; e-mail Sheila.Delin@LakeheadU.Ca.
- Admission Requirements:
M.A. program Applicants must hold an Honours B.A. or B.Sc. degree in Psychology. The degree must be from an approved university. Offers for admission and support will be made to successful applicants up to April 15.
- 2002-03 Student Statistics: Full-time M.A. 24, part-time M.A. 1, First year M.A., 9.
- Degree Requirements: The experimental program consists of three courses and a thesis for a total of five courses. Students in clinical psychology do four courses plus a thesis for a total of six courses. Clinical students are also required to complete 400 hours of practicum training. Normally, it takes two years to complete an M.A. degree.
- PH.D Program* Applicants must hold an M.A. or M.Sc. degree in Psychology. The degree must be from an approved university. Offers for admission and support will be made to successful applicants up to April 15. Clinical Ph.D. candidates are also required to complete an additional one-year internship of approximately 2000 hours in a setting under supervision of a registered psychologist.
- 2002-03 Student Statistics: Full-time Ph.D. 23, part-time Ph.D. 0, First Year Ph.D. 5.
- Degree Requirements: Students are required to take 6 full course equivalents as part of the Ph.D. program. Comprehensive examinations must be completed in two areas: an exam for general preparation, and an exam on a specific area of interest in clinical psychology. In addition to a dissertation, students are required to complete a minimum of 600 hours of practicum hours.

Université Laval

• Québec, Québec

École de psychologie :

(418) 656-5383 ou 656-2376. Courriel : psy@psy.ulaval.ca

Site Web : www.psy.ulaval.ca

Établie en 1961. Directeur : François Y. Doré.

Le système académique est conçu en termes de sessions.

Titres délivrés :

Ph.D Recherche et intervention (orientation clinique ou communautaire), Ph.D. Recherche et D.Psy.

Orientation générale des programmes :

La maîtrise :

En 2002-2003, l'École de psychologie a admis pour la dernière fois des étudiants dans ses programmes de maîtrise. Cependant, un étudiant qui doit abandonner le programme de doctorat auquel il est inscrit peut obtenir un diplôme de maîtrise (M.Ps. ou M.A.) s'il satisfait certaines conditions.

Le Ph.D. Recherche et intervention:

Le programme de doctorat Ph.D. Recherche et intervention vise à former à la fois des chercheurs autonomes et des praticiens de haut niveau en psychologie. Les orientations clinique et communautaire de ce programme sont agréées par l'Ordre des psychologues du Québec (OPQ) et donnent donc accès à l'OPQ et à l'exercice de la profession de psychologue au Québec. L'orientation clinique est aussi agréée, depuis 1995, par la Société Canadienne de Psychologie. Le Ph.D. Recherche et intervention comporte 156 crédits, répartis en 96 crédits obligatoires (36 crédits de cours, 3 crédits d'examen doctoral, 18 crédits de practicum et 36 crédits d'internat), 9 crédits à option et 54 crédits de thèse. L'orientation clinique du Ph.D. Recherche et intervention offre deux concentrations: une concentration en psychologie clinique axée sur l'évaluation, l'intervention et la recherche psychologiques, comprenant aussi une formation de base obligatoire en neuropsychologie clinique; et une concentration en neuropsychologie clinique axée sur l'évaluation, l'intervention et la recherche neuropsychologiques, comprenant aussi une formation de base obligatoire en psychologie clinique. L'orientation communautaire du Ph.D. Recherche et intervention est axée sur la prévention et la promotion de la santé mentale. Il comprend notamment des cours et une formation pratique à l'évaluation de programmes et l'évaluation psychosociale des milieux, à l'épidémiologie psychosociale ainsi qu'à l'intervention éducative et interculturelle.

Le Ph.D. Recherche:

Le programme de doctorat Ph.D. Recherche est axé sur la formation à la recherche et s'adresse aux étudiants qui désirent faire carrière en recherche comme professeur-chercheur en milieu universitaire ou comme chercheur autonome en milieu institutionnel (centres de recherche, centres hospitaliers, gouvernements, entreprises privées, etc.). Ce programme comprend un tronc commun d'activités et offre trois concentrations à l'étudiant: psychologie du développement; psychologie sociale; psychologie cognitive et neuroscience comportementale. Il ne donne pas accès à l'exercice de la profession de psychologue, mais il admet à certaines conditions les titulaires d'un baccalauréat ou d'une maîtrise dans une autre discipline que la psychologie. Le Ph.D. Recherche comporte 120 crédits, répartis en 27 crédits obligatoires (7 crédits de cours, 3 crédits d'examen doctoral, 12 crédits de practicum de recherche et 3 crédits de practicum pédagogique), 21 crédits à option et 74 crédits de thèse. Le practicum de recherche est une activité individualisée et constitue une occasion de se familiariser avec d'autres milieux de recherche. Pendant une période de 4 mois, l'étudiant travaille dans un laboratoire ou un centre de recherche, au Canada ou dans un autre pays, sur un thème connexe à sa thèse qu'il a lui-même choisi. Le practicum pédagogique est une autre activité individualisée qui a deux objectifs: initier l'étudiant à l'enseignement aux grands groupes et initier l'étudiant à l'encadrement de recherches empiriques.

Le D.Psy.:

Le programme de doctorat D.Psy. est un programme de formation en psychologie clinique. Il est axé sur l'acquisition de compétences professionnelles et vise à former des cliniciens de haut niveau. Ce programme est agréé par l'Ordre des psychologues du Québec (OPQ) et donne donc accès à l'OPQ et à l'exercice de la profession de psychologue au Québec. Conçu également pour satisfaire les critères d'agrément de la Société Canadienne de psychologie, ce programme a le potentiel d'être agréé par la Société Canadienne de Psychologie. Le D.Psy. comporte 132 crédits, répartis en 93 crédits obligatoires (36 crédits de cours, 3 crédits d'examen doctoral, 18 crédits de practicum et 36 crédits d'internat), 15 crédits à option et 24 crédits de recherche. Le D.Psy. offre deux concentrations: une concentration en psychologie clinique axée sur l'évaluation, l'intervention et la recherche psychologiques, comprenant aussi une formation de base obligatoire en neuropsychologie clinique; et une concentration en neuropsychologie clinique axée sur l'évaluation, l'intervention et la recherche neuropsychologiques, comprenant aussi une formation de base obligatoire en psychologie clinique.

Ressources :

L'École de psychologie met à la disposition de ses étudiants un Centre de documentation qui offre: une bibliothèque spécialisée; une testothèque; un parc informatique pourvu d'une vingtaine d'ordinateurs et qui donne aussi accès aux services Internet, à des logiciels pédagogiques et statistiques et à des sites Web conçus particulièrement pour des cours; des locaux et de l'équipement pour l'enregistrement et le visionnement de vidéocassettes. L'École de psychologie possède également: un service informatique, audiovisuel et multimédia qui prête de l'équipement pour l'enseignement, la formation pratique et la recherche; un service d'aide à la recherche qui informe les étudiants sur les programmes de bourses d'études supérieures, qui offre des consultations méthodologiques et statistiques et qui donne de la formation sur les logiciels de traitement de données; des laboratoires sur le campus et dans de nombreux centres de recherche hors campus auxquels les professeurs sont affiliés. La formation pratique en évaluation et en intervention est assurée sur le campus par des professeurs de carrière qui encadrent les étudiants au Service de consultation de l'École de psychologie, qui est aussi un milieu de recherche et clinique. La formation pratique est aussi assurée hors campus par des professeurs de clinique qui, psychologues en exercice dans divers milieux d'intervention, collaborent activement à la formation professionnelle des étudiants.

L'École de psychologie fournit aussi un soutien financier à ses étudiants par divers moyens: une bourse de 2 000 $ durant la première année d'études; un fonds de soutien dans les années suivantes qui, pour la durée totale des études, représente 8 000 $; des postes d'auxiliaires d'enseignement et de recherche et des charges de cours rémunérées.

Demande d'admission : Bureau du registraire, Pavillon Jean-Charles-Bonenfant, Université Laval, Québec, Qué., Canada, G1K 7P4 (www.ulaval.ca/reg/).

Dates limites de réception des demandes d'admission :

1<sup>er</sup> février pour la session d'automne dans tous les programmes.

Aucune admission aux sessions d'hiver et d'été.

Conditions d'admission :

Ph.D. Recherche et intervention: être titulaire d'un baccalauréat (spécialisé, avec majeure ou avec honours) en psychologie comportant au moins 42 crédits en psychologie

Ph.D. Recherche: être titulaire d'un baccalauréat (spécialisé, avec majeure ou avec honours) en psychologie ou d'une maîtrise en psychologie comprenant une formation de base à la recherche empirique ou une expérience de recherche jugée équivalente; ou être titulaire d'un baccalauréat ou d'une maîtrise dans une discipline liée aux sciences du comportement et incluant une formation de base à la recherche empirique ou une expérience de recherche jugée équivalente.

D.Psy.: être titulaire d'un baccalauréat (spécialisé, avec majeure ou avec honours) en psychologie comportant au moins 42 crédits en psychologie

Procédure de sélection :

Le principal critère est l'excellence de l'ensemble du dossier mais l'École de psychologie publie à chaque année, sur son site Web, la grille d'évaluation et la répartition des points pour la sélection des candidats dans chaque programme.

Nombre de places disponibles :

40 places sont assignées au Ph.D. Recherche et intervention et au D.Psy., la répartition des places dans ces deux programmes se faisant au prorata des demandes d'admission.

10 places (plus, si la capacité d'accueil des professeurs le permet) au Ph.D. Recherche.

Established 1967. Chairperson: Scott Allen, Faculty: 16 Full-time (6 Full Professors, 4 Associate Professors, 5 Assistant Professors, 1 Academic Assistant). Degrees awarded from 1994: 17.

Department Orientation: Our graduate program is research oriented. The central experience is lab/field research culminating in a thesis.

Programmes and Degrees Offered: MA, MSc and Ph.D. (Ph.D. is currently in Neuroscience only).

Enquiries to be Addressed to: Department of Psychology and Neuroscience, The University of Lethbridge, 4401 University Drive, Lethbridge, AB T1K 3M4. Phone Number: (403) 329-2235; Fax No.: (403) 329-2555, email: wehlage@uleth.ca.

Application Fee: $50

Applications to be Addressed to: Office of the Registrar, The University of Lethbridge, 4401 University Drive, Lethbridge, AB T1K 3M4.

Application Deadlines:

- October 1 for study to start in the subsequent spring session (January - April)
- March 1 for study to start in the subsequent summer session (May - August) or fall session (September - December)

Admission Requirements: A 40 semester course Baccalaureate degree, or its equivalent, in a related discipline from a recognized university and a minimum grade point average of 3.00 (based on a 4.00 scale) on the last 20 graded university level semester courses are required for admission to our Master's program. A Master's degree in a related discipline and evidence of scholarly competence are required for admission to our Ph.D. program. Applicants will be considered on a case by case basis. Because the capacity of our program is limited, not all students meeting the general admission requirements can be admitted. Selection criteria include reference letters, the proposed project—its timeliness and ability of proposed supervisor(s) to supervise it, availability of funding, availability of resources, etc. Our graduate program is only available on a full-time basis. The minimum residency requirement is 12 months for the Master's degree and 24 months for the Ph.D.

2001-2002 Student Statistics: 8 Full time MSc; 4 Full-time Ph.D.

Degree Requirements for MA/MSc: Successful competition of a research-based thesis. Students may be required to complete a limited number of courses (from 2 to 4 graduate level courses in most cases), the number and details of which are determined at the time of admission and vary from student to student.

Tuition Costs: Effective May 1, 2002, $5,019 for the first year of study (3 semesters); a continuation fee is $600 per semester thereafter.

Financial Assistance:

- Scholarships: a small number of minor scholarships are available, offering support of $2000-2500 per year.
- Graduate Assistantships: $7,000 assistantships are available for 2 years for a MA/MSc and $7,000 assistantships are available for 3 years for Ph.D.s in return for teaching duties.
- In some cases, the Faculty Supervisor may be able to offer a research stipend from a research grant.

Applications in 2001/2002: MSc - 8 Applicants, 8 Accepted.
Ph.D. - 4 Applicants, 4 Accepted.

Anticipated Openings in 2003: 6 MSc and 2 PhD

Specialized Programmes Within Department:

The Department offers opportunities to specialize in areas of Neuroscience, Cognitive Science, Evolutionary Psychology, Animal Behaviour.

Department of Educational and Counselling Psychology:

Chair: Susanne P. Lajoie. Program Directors: Alenoush Saroyan (Cognition and Instruction), Janet Donin (Professional Education), Theodore J. Maroun (Counselling Psychology), Ingrid Sladeczek (School/Applied Child Psychology), Nancy Heath (Inclusive Education).

Accredited by APA for the PhD (Educational Psychology) Major in School/Applied Child Psychology. Initial joint CPA-APA accreditation for the PhD in Counselling Psychology. Accreditation for both these PhDs by the Ordre des psychologues du Québec (OPQ). Accredited by the Ordre professionnel des conseillers et conseillères d'orientation du Québec (OPCCOQ) for the MA (non-thesis) in Counselling Psychology. Recognized by the Canadian and Quebec Associations of Family Life Educators in Family Life Education for the Diploma and MEd in Educational Psychology Concentration in Family Life Education. Approximately 75 graduate degrees are awarded annually (master's and doctorate).

Programs Offered:

MA, MEd, and PhD programs are available in most of the following specializations. Please consult the web page for up to date details. All degrees except Counselling Psychology are nominally in "Educational Psychology." Admission requirements vary somewhat according to the specialization. In general, Counselling Psychology, School/Applied Child Psychology, and Applied Developmental Psychology require an undergraduate Major or Honors degree in Psychology, or the equivalent in qualifying work for other degrees. Other programs will consider degrees in education, psychology, or other relevant areas, e.g., computer science, the health sciences, and social sciences. All degree areas maintain separate master's and doctoral levels. School/Applied Child Psychology is an integrated MA/PhD program.

Applied Cognitive Science
 Applied Developmental Psychology
 Computer Applications in Education/Instructional Technology
 Counselling Psychology
 Family Life Education
 Gifted Education
 Higher Education
 Inclusive (Special) Education
 Instructional Psychology
 School/Applied Child Psychology

General Orientation:

All graduate degrees include a research or inquiry-driven component. The Counselling and School/Applied Psychology programs adhere to the Scientist-Practitioner Model. All MA (thesis) and PhD degrees require a dissertation. The MA (Non-thesis) option within the School/Applied Child Psychology sequence, and all MEd programs require a smaller research project. A variety of research models (including action and evaluation) are considered where appropriate.

Admission and Degree Requirements:

These vary somewhat from program to program. Please consult the web page; it contains links to the most current version of the Graduate Calendar. <http://education.mcgill.ca/ecp>

Financial Assistance:

Teaching, Research, and General Assistantships, Co-Instructorships, and Foreign-Student Differential Fee waivers are available in varying numbers in different years. Many of our MA and PhD students hold major fellowships from government agencies and other funding sources (e.g., SSHRC, FCAR). Applicants are urged to apply for such fellowships in September of the year before their initial applications for admission, and again once admitted. An application for a teaching assistantship may be made at any time during the application process; a form is available on request. Research assistantships are awarded by individual professors from their research funds.

Fees:

The web site contains links to the latest fee schedule, or the web site of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research may be consulted directly at <http://mcgill.ca/fgr>. There are three fee schedules: Quebec residents, Canadian residents (who are charged the average of Canadian fees outside Quebec), and others. Students from selected countries (most French-speaking countries, Mexico, and others, are charged the Quebec fees). Master's students pay their fees by-the-credit, that is, as they take courses (this accommodates part-time students in programs where part-time studies are possible, mostly the MEd in Educational Psychology). Master's degrees are 48 credits with two exceptions, Counselling Psychology (60) and School/Applied Child (60 for Non-thesis, 72 with thesis). PhD students pay fees per semester.

Department of Psychology:

Chair: Keith Franklin. The language of instruction at McGill is English. Accredited by the CPA and the APA in Clinical Psychology. Graduate Degrees awarded since 1984 – 220.

Programs Offered:

Only students intending to study full-time for a PhD are accepted. Experimental Program: The following areas of specialization are offered: cognition, language and perception; behavioral neuroscience, developmental psychology, social and personality psychology, health psychology, quantitative psychology and modeling. Students entering the experimental program with a bachelor's degree may obtain a Master's degree before advancing to doctoral studies. Clinical psychology: Students are accepted upon completion of a bachelor's degree. No Master's degree is offered in clinical psychology.

General Orientation:

Course work in the experimental program is at a minimum; students' major occupation is the pursuit of original laboratory research. There is somewhat more course work in the clinical program as well as clinical training; but conducting original research also plays a prominent role.

Applications and Information:

Departmental information is available online at www.psych.mcgill.ca, and application forms and additional information are available at www.mcgill.ca/applying.

Admission Requirements: Normally a minimum of 36 credits (2-3 ce courses) in Psychology, including Introductory, Statistics, Experimental, Contemporary Psychological Theory, and advanced courses in the applicant's area of interest. Applicants must submit transcripts, 3 letters of recommendation, a personal letter describing their training interests and goals, and GRE scores (only from applicants whose first language is English). International (ie. non-Canadian) students who have not studied in English should submit TOEFL scores.

Degree Requirements:

M.A. or M.Sc.: Courses in psychological theory and statistics. A comprehensive examination. A series of individually determined exercises designed to remedy weaknesses and reinforce strong points. A thesis based on experimental work.

Experimental PhD: A series of seminars. A comprehensive examination. A thesis based on experimental work.

Clinical PhD: Courses in psychological theory and statistics. A series of 12 one-term theoretical and practical courses in clinical psychology. A seminar in clinical psychology. A first-year comprehensive examination and a third-year special comprehensive examination. A thesis based on experimental work. A 4-month practicum and 1-year internship.

Financial Assistance: Some teaching assistantships are available. The Department attempts to support each student at a level of approximately $16,000 per year plus Canadian student fees. Students receive varying remuneration, depending on their other sources of support. Research assistantships and McGill University Graduate Fellowships are also available. Many of our students are supported by government agencies (e.g., NSERC, SSHRC, and FQRNT, FQRSC, FRSQ). Applicants are urged to apply to these agencies.

Fees: Canadian: $2,960 (per year). International: $10,869 (per year + 641 compulsory health insurance). Some fee waivers are available for international students. The minimum residence for a Ph.D. in a Clinical Program is 6 terms. In the experimental program, the minimum residence requirement for the Master's degree is 3 terms, 2 terms of which may be counted toward the 6-term Ph.D. residence requirement.

Support Staff: 3 electronic/computer technicians, 1 animal laboratory technician, 6 administrative/clerical/secretarial.

Special Facilities or Resources: The Department has a variety of research facilities in virtually all areas of psychology. These facilities are housed in over 100 different research rooms. There is widespread utilization of computers to perform control and data acquisition functions in several research laboratories. A local area network and an instructional/research facility provide the latest in microcomputer technology. Other major facilities include extensive closed circuit television equipment, a group dynamics laboratory, a laboratory for improving college teaching, a fully equipped aviary permitting the study of water fowl on a year-round basis, a sleep and dreams laboratory, an animal classical conditioning laboratory, two animal operant conditioning laboratories, and two laboratories equipped for the study of animal physiological processes. The Department also has metal, wood, and electronic work shops; and surgery as well as histology rooms. The Department has the technical capability for designing and constructing all digital logic systems required to interface peripheral devices to laboratory computers. The University Computer Centre facilities are readily available to the Psychology Department. These facilities include a mainframe computer, campus LAN and Internet Access.

Research and Clinical Space: The Department has 37,000 square feet of space for offices, laboratories, and classrooms in its modern, 5-story Duff Roblin Building. The Psychological Services

Centre has an additional 6,000 square feet of on-campus space for offices, delivery of client services, and clinical training purposes.

Department of Psychology: Established 1931. Chairperson: Dr. K.-Peter Ossenkopp. Faculty, 52 Full-time, 10 Part-time. Academic year system – 3 terms. First Ph.D. awarded in 1953. First M.A. awarded in 1933.

Department Orientation: The emphasis of the graduate programme is scientific involvement in the traditional fields of the discipline, coupled with advanced training in the application of psychology based on a scientist-practitioner model.

Applications to be Addressed to: The Graduate Program Office, Department of Psychology, The University of Western Ontario, 1151 Richmond Street, London, ON, Canada, N6A 5C2. Deadline: January 15. Please download & print application materials from the website: <http://www/ssc/uwo/ca/psychology/graduate.htm>

Admission Requirements:

M.A. Degree: An applicant should have obtained an honours degree in Psychology, or its equivalent, with at least an A-(80%) standing in the final two years of undergraduate study.

Ph.D. Degree: An M.A. degree in psychology is currently required for admission as Ph.D. candidate in the Department.

Programmes and Degrees Offered:

Full-time only. M.A. and Ph.D.: Behavioural and Cognitive Neuroscience, Clinical (accredited by CPA and APA); Cognition and Perception; Developmental; Industrial /Organizational; Personality and Measurement; Social.

2004-2005 Student Statistics: Ph.D.68; M.A- 36; First year 24: 63% , 37% male.

Degree Requirements:

M.A.: Candidates are required to take a course in research design, two half courses in their area of specialization, and two half courses outside their principal area. The specifics of this rule are available from the Graduate Program Office website. A thesis based on an empirical or theoretical investigation must also be submitted.

The minimum residence requirement is three terms of full-time study by a candidate entering with a Canadian Honours degree or its equivalent (four year degree with nine full courses or fourteen half courses in psychology). Students accepted into the Ph.D. program must finish the M.A. by August 31st if they wish to become Ph.D. candidates in the Fall. Failure to complete the M.A. before the end of the Fall term requires reapplication by January 15 for Ph.D. admission. If the M.A. program is completed by the end of the Fall term, the status of the student will be altered to Ph.D. at the beginning of the Winter term provided the result of the thesis examination is positive and department approval is forthcoming. An M.A. of high quality must be completed for continuation into the Ph.D. program.

Ph.D.: The emphasis is on the training of scientists, with students in clinical areas trained on the scientist-practitioner model. The program typically includes graduate seminars and tutorials, a comprehensive examination in one area of specialization, and a dissertation based on a research project. The minimum residence requirement is six terms of full-time study after a Master's degree but completion of the degree may require a period extending beyond the minimum.

Tuition Costs: Graduate fees for Canadian citizens and Landed Immigrants for 2004-2005 are $2,034.85 per term, for a three-term total of $6,104.55. For students outside Canada who are neither Canadian citizens nor Landed Immigrants, the fees are $4,431.89, for a three-term total of $13,295.67 (including mandatory health insurance premiums). Foreign students with a "A" average are eligible to be considered for a fee bursary which reduces their fees to the same as those of Canadian citizens and Landed Immigrants.

Financial Assistance: Students holding major scholarships (e.g., Ontario Graduate Scholarships, Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council; Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council; Canadian Institutes of Health Research) may be offered supplementary teaching assistantships. Teaching assistantships are not available for the summer term. Students may be able to obtain summer research assistantships but these cannot be guaranteed.

Sources of support include: Graduate Tuition Scholarships, Special University Scholarships, International Graduate Student Scholarship,, Graduate Teaching Assistantships, Research Assistantships: Academic year or Summer months. The number and amounts vary.

Anticipated Openings in 2005: For the Department overall – 25.

Special Facilities or Resources: Special Facilities or Resources: Facilities for experimental research in the Social Science Centre include animal laboratories, rooms specially designed for research with research participants in perception, psychophysiology, learning, developmental, personality and experimental social psychology and, in addition, a preschool for observation and research into child development, early childhood education, curricula, materials and teaching methods. A broad range of equipment is available, and additional special equipment necessary for a student's research may be obtained. Facilities to aid in conducting experiments include sophisticated general and dedicated laboratory computers. An engineering shop, an audio-visual unit, a workshop, and electronic consultants are available. The department also has easy access to the Social Science Computing Laboratory which provides instructional, word processing and research services. Potential field settings (and sources of subjects for research) include schools, psychiatric and general hospitals.

2005 Anticipated Openings: 15

Degree Requirements:

Combined MA/PhD

Program is designed as a continuous program whereby students cannot proceed until they have completed MA thesis satisfactorily. Courses, practica and thesis required for the MA do not form a "stand-alone" package. Students entering the program with an already completed terminal MA complete the PhD part of the program only.

(1) M.A. thesis; (2) Course work. The number of courses beyond the Honours B.A. depends upon the program that the student chooses. Up to six semester courses may be accepted for credit from another university. Required courses include courses in the student's area of specialization and courses related to methodology, biological bases of behaviour, cognitive bases of behaviour, ethics, and the historical foundations of psychology. Students must also complete practicum and internship requirements; (3) Comprehensive Examination in student's area of specialization. Successful completion of this examination admits the student to doctoral candidacy; (4) Dissertation. The principal requirement for the Ph.D. degree in Psychology is the presentation of a dissertation which embodies the results of an original investigation. The results should constitute a significant and original contribution to knowledge.

Tuition Costs: Resident $1704 per term. Non-resident: Visa students $2976 per term, U.S. $2289 US per term. Compulsory fees approx. $400 per term. Campus housing is available. Rates subject to change. (Student must be registered for all 3 semesters: fall, winter, summer.)

Special Facilities or Resources: The Department computer lab is equipped with 14 computers, all of which are connected to the Student Novell Network, and a network laser printer. In addition, the Department has several research service facilities. The Child Study Centre includes a furnished suite of rooms for child therapy, videotaping equipment, and a small microcomputer laboratory. The Psychological Services Centre and the Student Counselling Centre provide practicum and research opportunities for students in the Clinical and Applied Social programs. The Health Psychology Research Office (HPRO) is used for research in the fields of health and community psychology, and also provides a storage facility for community/health-related research and reference materials, as well as a small library of social and attitudinal measures. The Cognitive Neuropsychology lab is a 2,000 square foot laboratory fully equipped with various computer platforms to enable students to obtain hands-on experience in experimental design and implementation. The lab also has portable computers for off-site testing of neurological patients and school aged children. The Clinical Therapy research lab is located on the second floor of the main psychology building. The research focuses on the development and evaluation of psychological treatments for adult problems stemming from childhood trauma and includes the evaluation of treatment efficacy as well as the active ingredients of change (client and therapist factors and in-session processes).

A number of research groups exist in the department and meet on a regular basis during the fall and winter semesters. These groups involve topics such as: health psychology, feminist issues, forgiveness, emotional competence, suicidology, cultural psychology and trauma and psychotherapy, clinical therapy, and violence against women.

Admission Requirements:

M.A.:

The usual requirement for admission is an honours degree in psychology or its equivalent (at least eight full courses in psychology). Candidates must have obtained an average grade of B+ or higher in the last two years of study. For students not applying to the Clinical area, the honours degree equivalent should include: the equivalent of one full course in Introductory Psychology; one full or two half courses in Child Psychology, Social Psychology, Abnormal Psychology, Personality Theory, Behaviour Disorders, a full course in Research Design and Statistical Analysis, one full or two half courses in Experimental Psychology, Learning, Motivation, Perception, or Physiological Psychology. For students applying to the Clinical area, the honours degree equivalent should include: one full course in Introductory Psychology; one full course in Research Design and Statistical Analysis, and the equivalent of six other full courses in psychology. The latter should include one full course or two half courses in each of the following content areas:

- biological bases of behaviour (e.g., physiological psychology, comparative psychology, neuropsychology, sensation, psychopharmacology);
- cognitive-affective bases of behaviour (e.g., learning, memory, perception, cognition, thinking, motivation, emotion);
- social bases of behaviour (e.g., social psychology; cultural, ethnic and group processes; sex roles; organizational and systems theory); and

- individual behaviour (e.g., personality theory, human development, individual differences, abnormal psychology).

Students with such qualifications may be admitted as Candidates for the M.A. degree. GRE scores (Aptitude and Advanced Psychology) are required. The M.A. programme usually is completed as an integral part of the Ph.D. programme.

Ph.D.:

The usual prerequisite for admission in the Ph.D. programme is a master's degree in psychology. However, the Graduate Programme in Psychology will consider applications from exceptional students with a master's degree in another field. Students without a master's degree in psychology would normally register in the M.A. programme. Students may not enter the Ph.D. programme until they have completed all the M.A. requirements including the thesis.

Student Statistics 2004-2005:

Full-time Ph.D. 124, M.A. 72. Part-time Ph.D. 20, M.A. 4. 25% male, 75% female.

Degree Requirements:

M.A.:

Candidates for the MA degree are admitted to one of the six areas of specialization. Upon entry, all students must pass a statistics qualifying examination, for which an undergraduate full course in statistics is usually adequate preparation. All areas require a full graduate course in statistics, at least a half course in the history and theory of psychology, and a thesis. In addition to these general requirements, each area requires (a) between two and three full courses at the 600 level, depending on the particular area; (b) one or two practica which may have to do with either research, teaching, or applied work (with the number and type once again being dependent on the particular area). The thesis is supervised by a three-person committee. The MA programme requires a minimum of one year and may not exceed two years without penalties. Students who have not finished at the end of two years become ineligible for registration in further courses and practica and financial support ceases until all requirements for the degree are completed.

Ph.D.:

Candidates in each of the six areas of specialization pursue advanced courses of study and research beyond the M.A. level for a period of at least two years. Each candidate works under the guidance of a three person supervisory committee. All Ph.D. candidates must fulfil the course requirements specified by the area of specialization. In addition candidates are required to complete at least two practica as specified by the particular area. All Ph.D. candidates write a minor area paper on a topic chosen in consultation with their supervisors. The topic is usually outside the area of specialization and, with permission, may be chosen from a field outside psychology. All Ph.D. candidates must conduct a research study on a topic chosen in consultation with their supervisors and report the results in appropriate dissertation form. The research and dissertation should demonstrate the candidate's independence, originality, and understanding of the area of investigation and should constitute a contribution to knowledge. After the normal submission of the dissertation, an oral examination is held. Additionally, both the clinical and clinical/developmental areas require a full-year clinical internship in a setting approved by the particular area. Also, the clinical area requires that its students pass an examination on competency in psychological assessment.

Tuition Fees:

These normally total $5,430.54 (subject to change) annually (3 terms per calendar year). Persons entering Canada on Student Visas may expect to pay tuition of approximately $11,918.31 (subject to change) annually (3 terms per calendar year). Campus housing is available.

Financial Assistance:

Applicants to either the MA or PhD programmes who gained an “A” average in the last two years of their work are automatically considered for a $4,000 York Scholarship. Full-time MA and PhD students may be eligible for a research assistantship that, in 2003-2004, was valued at $8,000. They may also be eligible for a teaching assistantship valued at $10,935.00 plus a supplement, provided during the summer, of $3,900. Canadian citizens and landed immigrants are eligible for Medical Research Council of Canada Studentships, National Institute of Mental Retardation Awards, Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada Scholarships, Ontario Graduate Scholarships, Ontario Mental Health Fellowships, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada Scholarships. These scholarships may be supplemented within the terms of the agency concerned.
